Name _____
Date _____

First Day Introduction
Observation and Analysis

Objectives

To make observations about several different objects and explain their behavior

Procedure

Students will be placed in several different lab groups. There are several different stations set around the classroom with some objects you are to make observations. You will only have a few minutes at each station. Be certain to carefully follow all safety instructions. After making your observations you are to explain why you think the object behaved as it did.

Station 1

Station 2

Station 6

Station 7

Station 8